

BUCAREST

activitat Workshop internacional organitzat per la University of Architecture and Urbanism "Ion Mincu"

tema Eco-Rehabilitation of a post-war collective housing neighborhood from Bucharest

The workshop participants are invited to discover together ideas and to sketch possible ways, directions and even practical solutions for the rehabilitation of a collective housing neighborhood from Bucharest, following sustainability criteria.

The final mission is to propose rehabilitation interventions (both economically and technically feasible) that address Bucharest built environment's particular problems (overuse, high consumption of conventional energy, interior discomfort, monotony etc.) as well as issues within the broader context of the city: lack of urban equipment (functions other than residential), constantly diminishing green areas, transportation issues, pollution, poor management of natural resources, improper waste management etc.

Besides toring the intervention area, the workshop proposes one week of studio work within international student teams, accompanied by academic lectures, public debates, dialogue with local professionals and public administration representatives.
